Spring

has finally arrived in Bexhill.

Our garden

Our garden is beginning to bloom with the warmth of the spring sunshine and I think everyone is feeling happier to see the sun and feel some warmth and fresh air. Rocky the guinea pig is having afternoons on the grass in his run and the chickens' pen is finally drying out. Long may it last!

We have had lots of entertainment over the past few weeks with a magician, a pianist and a theatre company as well as all our usual ladies and gentlemen who visit to entertain, exercise and pamper us.

I have had an interesting letter from the matron of Mais House - a British Legion home in Hastings Road, inviting us to join in a friendship club where homes invite each others residents to join in activities they may be holding.

The first activity will be a sunflower growing competition so on Monday we will all be planting sunflowers and hopefully growing some handsome specimens to win some prizes. I have asked Derek to lead the potting and hand out some of his expert tips on successful growing and cultivation!

Another activity that have invited us to is visit to their home by a sheep centre who will bring a variety of baby lambs and other assorted farm animals to hold and pet. This will be on 18th may so I hope lots of our residents will want to go along to this.

Church service

Our next Church service is on Monday 26th April and everyone is very welcome to join us in the lounge for a short service with hymns and a reading.

Nigel has been as busy as ever, this month he has been working on the entrance hall building much needed storage cupboards and painting.

At the moment he is carrying out essential maintenance works around the home but as soon as that is finished if the weather stays nice he will be starting on the front of the house.

I would love to replace the front door but some people disagree and say it has character, being in a conservation area it could only be a new wood door but I think a proper sized door as opposed to the double narrow doors at present would be better.

Your comments would be very much appreciated!!
